I Corinthians

A one-day class on St. Paul's First Letter to ancient Corinth with biblical scholar, Kevin Saunders

Saturday, February 25, 2017

9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.

In this one-day lecture program, Kevin will focus on the 16 chapters of St. Paul's First Letter to Corinthians and take us to Corinth, Greece, via the book of Acts and chapter 18 which speaks of the founding of the church so important to St. Paul that he writes not one, but two letters of pastoral concern. We will meet St. Paul the pastor and address many pastoral issues together including the problem of divisions in the church, sexual immorality among the believers and even the hair styles preferred by St. Paul for those men and women who preach the Gospel in the gathering of believers.

St. Paul, the Apostle to the Gentiles, is the founder and first pastor on the church that he began in ancient Corinth. St. Paul receives a delegation of pastors from the church who meet with him about pastoral concerns while he was in Ephesus (Modern day Turkey). It is from Ephesus that St. Paul then writes this first of two letters to the Corinthian church that will be delivered and read in the many house churches that meet in this city of trade and maritime commerce.

Love is patient, love is kind... It does not dishonor others, it is not self-seeking ... (I Corinthians 13:4-5)

Kevin Saunders holds a Master's Degree in Biblical Studies from Notre Dame University. His interest in the life and times of Jesus led him and his family to Jerusalem where he worked as chaplain at the Hebrew University, leading tours and studying Scripture in the Holy Land.

The one-day study includes materials, lunch, activities and presentations. Participants may choose to arrive early to attend the 7:30 a.m. Mass and enjoy breakfast at the Center for a small extra fee. The offering for the day is $45.00; $50.00 for those who choose the breakfast option. Advance registrations are required.
